Hope for the Holidays

Jeremiah's Voice, Inc.

Background:

Jeremiah's Voice, Inc. is excited about serving families in North Texas. This is our fifth year operating our Hope for the Holidays initiative. We strive to be the voice of inspiration and hope for parents and caregivers of children and adults with special needs. Jeremiah's Voice designed this program to provide families with the experience of relaxing and simply enjoying the holidays without worrying about paying for gifts and preparing a holiday meal.

Hope for the Holidays Goals:

- To provide age-specific and disability-appropriate holiday gifts and a catered holiday meal for families within the Dallas/Ft. Worth area who are currently providing care for a special needs child or adult.
- To help reduce the stress, anxiety, and potential holiday depression that can occur during this time.
- To raise awareness, build tolerance and sensitivity, and foster a community embracing differences that warrant love rather than ridicule.
- To help remove the stigma about families caring for someone with a disability or living with a disability that they don't matter to society.

Why is there a need for Jeremiah's Voice Hope for the Holidays Program?:

Many local and national organizations provide gifts and toys for people who are struggling financially. What distinguishes us from many of these other beautiful endeavors is that Jeremiah's Voice recognizes that the kinds of toys that these organizations give out to needy families during the holidays are not suitable for children who may be challenged by a disability that prohibits them from walking, talking, touching, speaking, or interacting. The heightened sensory aspects of some toys may trigger adverse reactions in children with special needs. Noise, for example, for the typical child, is welcomed and encouraged. But for a child with special needs, noise may be anything but welcomed – it could be frightening and even trigger a lengthy episode of withdrawal and trauma.

What does the program include?:

- A catered holiday meal with all the trimmings delivered to the home of families caring for someone with a disability. The dinner will accommodate 4 to 6 family members – living within the Dallas/Ft. Worth area;
- Age-specific and disability-appropriate holiday gifts with a maximum gift-allocation of $700 (including shipping and handling costs)
- Connection to Jeremiah's Voice, an organization dedicated to the belief that everyone should live a full life and experience the ideal of "Living Beyond Disability" as a way of life.

The cost for many items may require additional adaptability, which increases the traditional price*
